JOHN W. WADE TAKES POISON DRAUGHT HERE

Prominent Citizen Tells Children Had Nothing to Live For

Large Crowd Pays Final Tribute to Deceased Wednesday

John W. Wade, one of the most prominent business men of Murray and one of the most influential citizens of Calloway county, ended his own life here Monday afternoon in a fit of despondency.

Mr. Wade had been in failing health for the past several weeks and was exceedingly despondent over his condition as well as having worried considerably over the illness of two of his children during the past few months.

He had been confined to his room with illness for several days but dressed himself Monday afternoon though he did not leave the house. He complained of feeling ill but when his children urged him to call a doctor he refused saying that he had nothing to live for.

Shortly afterward, his daughter, Miss Nellie Wade, heard him call from the adjoining room and when she rushed to his side he was unconscious with a half-empty bottle of carbolic acid beside him. He died before doctors could arrive.

Mr. Wade was a native of Calloway county, having been born near Wadesboro, where he engaged in farming until twelve years ago when he moved to Murray. He was a man of high honor and integrity and was rewarded with many places of trust by his fellow citizens, with whom he was universally popular and highly regarded. For nine years he was magistrate of the Wadesboro district and held court every second of Calloway county, giving him a wide acquaintance and numerous friends.

Since coming to Murray, Mr. Wade was for two terms a member of the city council and was also director in the First National Bank and the Gilbert-Dorson Co., as well as interested in a number of other enterprises. He was a member of the Methodist church, a Mason and also a Royal Arch Mason.

He leaves three daughters, Mrs. Cora E. Wade, Mrs. Bessie Paduch and Miss Nellie Wade, and four sons, Grover, of Allenton, Tenn.; Cohert, of Chicago, and John Mason and Will, of Murray. Funeral services were conducted at the Murray Methodist church Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock by Rev. J. W. Ennor, Rev. J. W. Waters and Rev. E. B. Motley. The auditorium was filled to capacity by friends attending the last tribute. Burial was in the city cemetery.

The pall bearers were: Honorary, Dr. E. B. Houston, Dr. Ben B. Keys, R. H. Falwell, W. E. Marberry, W. H. Pinner, Vernon Stubblefield, Edgar Purdon, J. D. Purdon, L. A. Langston and Dr. R. T. Wells; Active, W. E. Clark, Grady Miller, Harry Slied, Wells Purdon, Greg Miller and J. K. Farmer.

Murray Physicians on Southwestern Program

Drs. Ben B. Keys and E. B. Houston, of Murray, were on the program at the annual meeting of the Southwestern Kentucky Medical Association, which was held in Paducah Tuesday.

Dr. Keys read a paper at the afternoon session on "Causes and Statistics of the present day Heart Trouble" and discussed the subject was opened by Dr. Houston.

Dr. J. A. Outland, Murray, served as a member of the Program Committee during the past year while Dr. Keys was on the program committee.

Union Grove Dedication Postponed From Sunday

Thoroughbreds Conquer Tennesseeans, 8-1, 5-2

With Haynes and McGary pitching 2-11 baseball, Cutler's Thoroughbreds avenged a pair of defeats in Knoxville last month by winning a decisive 8-1 victory here Wednesday afternoon on the college field. The scores were 8 to 1 and 5 to 2. Both games were seven-inning affairs.

Dewese, Murray catcher, hit safely three times in the first game while Munger, outfielder, scored at the bat in the second game with two doubles and a single out of three trips to the plate.

Both Haynes and McGary pitched strongly and were never in danger.

J. R. Oury Will Open Miniature Golf Course

J. R. Oury, former Murray citizen who recently returned from Fort Meyers, Florida, has announced that he will open a miniature golf course here. The place will be located in college addition just across the boulevard from College Inn.

Miniature golf courses have proved a great attraction throughout the country and are what their name implies, a

A Decade in Murray

The census figures for Murray, Calloway county, Kentucky, will show an increase of only about 500 persons between 1920 and 1930, or approximately 20 per cent.

This, however, is probably the most fallacious rule one could take to measure the progress that has been made in Murray during the past ten years. More than two million dollars have been spent on buildings in Murray since 1920 and it is altogether probable that if an exact survey were taken that this would be a very conservative estimate. Five buildings, at the college have cost in the neighborhood of three-quarters of a million and together with equipment it is safe to say that a million dollars has been invested in this institution alone since the last census taking, at which time the site of that magnificent educational plant was merely woods and corn fields. The valuation of the college in this article does not include the two buildings now under construction which will cost, in the shell, more than a quarter of a million and will require several additional thousands in additional, permanent equipment to fit them for service.

The Murray Milk Products Company plant has cost in the neighborhood of two hundred thousand dollars and fifty thousand would be a minimum estimate for the cost of building and machinery in the local dairy industry.

Furthermore, the paved streets in Murray, cost no more, distance and have been a noteworthy contribution to material progress since 1920. The costs of new homes alone in the last ten years runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars. Three homes alone, built last year in Murray, cost in the aggregate more than $100,000 so that it can readily be seen that an estimate of two or three hundred thousand for new homes since 1920 is indeed conservative.

Many other outstanding improvements in a material way have also been accomplished during the decade. Hospital facilities have been remarkably improved with the construction of the handsome Key-Houston Clinic, hospital downtown and in addition to the Mason Hospital which greatly expanded and improved its facilities. Prominent, too, is the beautiful new Baptist church. And last but not least the National Hotel

RANDOM
Ruminations

There's an old saying that you never pay for your raising until you have children of your own and that has been coming home more forcibly to me within the past year. The Little Fellow at our house is a normal three-year-old and that means that he is full of energy and pep, eternally into or upto something that he should not do.

He requires a great deal of attention from his mother to keep him from injury and often his stunts drive her almost to distraction. She was telling mother the other day how much care he was and was calmly informed that she was lucky as the Little Fellow was not near so much trouble as his daddy was at the same age. Often when I come in tired as as a dog and anxious to stretch out my wearyness I am informed that it is my duty to get out and hunt up the Little Fellow, just as my daddy had to hunt for me about twenty-four or five years ago.

The Bible teaches us that through the sin of our common parents, Adam and Eve, peccability is born in us and it isn't any trouble to see in childhood the very things that characterize all of us adults. I refer now to justifying your self when you know that you have done something wrong.

The other day I started to Paduch and wasn't very far from town before it was apparent that the gasoline pipe from the tank to the motor was filled up. I had a sneaking suspicion what was the matter but kept it to myself until I pulled up at Lynn Grove to have a mechanic check the trouble.

While I was waiting for the mechanic to arrive I asked the man at the store to put in five gallons of gas. No more had the stream of gas hit the tank than I heard rocks rattling in the strainer. Just as I had expected the Little Fellow had poured a quantity of rock and sand in the gas tank. My suspicions were justified when the filter cartridge showing the feed line was found clogged to the brim with sand.

If the Little Fellow had been on the scene he probably would have received a sound thrashing through me and I would have been a chastened child. When I got home, however, my ire had cooled and he was fast asleep in his crib. I thought of the deep or childhood that we adults expect and never can obtain.

The next morning I asked him if he realized he had filled his daddy's car so that it would scarcely run. "Yes, it will," he said. "It will run faster than any car, but it's trying, human like, to justify something he had done that he knew he shouldn't have, but I didn't care him for that. It is something that every mother's son and daughter of us do.

I saw that Paul Block, who published a chain of daily newspapers in the East, has given a hundred thousand dollars for the establishment of a Y. M. C. A. University program of studies to trace the relationship of the Press to modern affairs. It is not a new school of journalism or even a new type of journalistic instruction but an understanding that every newspaper, man on earth, sincerely hopes will have some effect upon the problems it attacks.

Probably, the least understood of omnipresent, current relations between the press and the general public is that it is the fault of the press but it is true nevertheless that only a handful of people outside of journalism understand the aims of the press as a modern force, much less its actual working and practical problems.

Newspaper publishing may be called a science but it is the most indefinite and indefinable of all sciences because it deals so intimately with human nature. And psychologists to the contrary notwithstanding I don't believe anybody can formulate any exact rule for the process of human thinking. At least I can't ever tell how anybody is going to react to any particular stimulus.

The great bulk of newspaper work is done under time pressure. The newspaperman works under the merciless lash of an eternal and everlasting succession of tankards under the name of "dead line." You have to do it quick and you have to do it right.

It is a great business, a wonderful, mysterious, and perplexing business to see. And the more I find out about it, which is pitifully little enough, the more I realize there is that I never will know.

But if Mr. Block's gift to Yale will have some effect in giving the general public a better idea of what we newspaper folk are trying to do and a little better understanding of our ideals and our problems, our lives will be considerably eased.

Another cause of the agricultural depression is that so many farmers do not care so much about the price of corn as they do the price of gasoline.

The census department seems to be no more satisfactory than any other government agency.

Another out-of-date phrase: "Safe in prison."

Both party emblems need revision. Judging from campaign expenses, the Republicans should use a money bag instead of a log cabin. We have no suggestions for the Democrats but the rooster certainly has had nothing to crow about in the past few years.

The Ledger & Times has just received a large volume containing biographies of all the senators and congressmen of the United States since 1774. Those who enjoy the Congressional Record may have this volume for collateral reading.

The first act of any apologist to state office should be to make connection with a good firm of lawyers. If every city of the United States had its population quoted in the census like it thinks it should be the population of China would be a mere handful.

pated to that of America.

It appears beyond a shadow of a doubt that the only jurist with a Chinaman's chance to be appointed to the United States without bitter protest from somebody is some muckhead that never had a thought, gave an opinion or took a decided stand about anything in his life.

The city youth cannot be deteriorating very fast as long as some of them are hunting jobs of setting tobacco when a season comes off.

Three things that never suit everybody are the weather, laws and others' opinions.

Some of the most irreligious people concur in the sentiment of that old song, "Jesus Paid It All."

Another anomaly of American life is that business has become a sport and sport has become a business.

Worthless Advertising

Several months ago the Elizabethtown Business Men's Club appointed a committee to which its members proposed to refer any and all the numerous advertising schemes that are attempted to be perpetrated in small towns such as Elizabethtown. The plan was a good one, and the committee should, in the interest of the members of the club, exercise its function.

Business men are continually called upon to waste their money on these useless and worthless advertising specialties, such as show programs, novelties, etc., none of which have any value. If the contribution is solicited in the name of charity, and given in the same manner, it is a shame.

The business man's lot is not an easy one, especially in this year of 1930. He must contend with fickle changes in style of his merchandise, doubtful credits, high taxes and frequently other problems. He is called upon almost daily for some more or less deserving charity, and many of these have no real claim upon his bounty. The jax of worthless advertising is one expense from which he should be relieved.—Elizabethtown News.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

To Encourage Cattle Raising in Kentucky

A ring for 4-H club members raised $3,000 for the 1930 annual fat stock show to be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville in November. The purpose of this ring is to encourage cattle raising on farms, according to M. S. Garalde, supervisor of 4-H beef cattle clubs for the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Good-type calves have become so scarce and high in price as to offer a constant hazard to calf club work, he said. Not only are club boys and girls required to pay a high price for calves but it is becoming increasingly difficult to find well-bred stock at any price. Home production seems to be the solution to this problem.

Liberal prizes will be offered on non-produced calves at the Louisville show. Prizes have been made from a large number of counties, which indicates that the plan may become widely popular.

Economical production also will be stressed at this year's show. For the first time there will be a ring in which prizes will be offered for carloads of cattle raised at the lowest cost. It is not enough to know how to buy or raise and fatten calves, Mr. Garalde pointed out, but club members should realize a profit on their stock.

Six hundred 4-H club calves will be exhibited and sold at the show this year.

COBB-MILLS

An event of interest to friends in this and adjoining counties is the marriage of Miss Emma Cobb of Nashville, Tenn., to Luther Mills, of Farmington, Ky. The bride was escorted by the Rev. Richard N. Owen, pastor of the First Baptist church, at his residence in Paris, Tenn., on Wednesday afternoon, April 30, at 2:30 o'clock.

The bride was gown in a rose beige chiffon dress with accessories to harmonize. She was attended by her sister, Miss Erle Cobb, of Nashville, and a cousin, Miss Maude Cobb, of Orlando, Fla.

Mrs. Mills formerly resided near Farmington and was a successful teacher, having taught a number of schools in Graves and Calloway counties. She has a large circle of friends here as well as in Nashville and Orlando, Fla.

The groom is also very popular in business and social circles. Mr. and Mrs. Mills will reside in Detroit after a short bridal tour.

Gold Star Mothers Off For France

New York, May 15.—A group of Gold Star Mothers, who started their second voyage to France Wednesday, on the thirtieth anniversary of the day on which they sent their first soldiers to the trenches over there.

Their faces were wet with tears because the hands somehow could not keep from playing "Keep the Home Fires Burning"—232 gold star mothers whose boys did not come back sailed on the S. S. America, each to visit a grave.

Thirteen years ago the camouflaged steamer Orunda slipped out of New York bearing the first Americans to France—a base hospital unit that had been recruited in Cleveland, Ohio.

Today more than a fourth of this first group of the 6,000 mothers who will be traveling to France throughout the summer came from Ohio.

It was to have been a formal leave-taking today, with speeches and bands and presentation of medals.

The program was carried out according to schedule—but it was not formal. Even Capt. George Fried, commander of the America, said he had to keep winking his eyes so that no one would see that there were tears in them while he was talking to some of these mothers.

And while Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of the staff of the United States army, who commanded a brigade in France, was making his speech his voice grew husky.

"I'm going to try to make them happy," was the last thing Captain Fried said. "But some of them, when they talk to me, keep tears in their eyes. It's a tough thing to see an old mother with tears in her eyes."

Early yesterday morning, eager and anxious, a little worried lest they might miss their boat, the gold star mothers were escorted to Hoboken by army officers. Military bands awaited them there on the dock.

There were flags and heaps of flowers. Hundreds of the gold star mothers of New York and New Jersey were down to see them off.

The America carried today the flag used at the dedication of the Meuse-Argonne cemetery by General Pershing and Marshal Foch.

Stanley Appointed to International Board

Washington, May 9.—Augustus Owles Stanley, former Governor of Kentucky and former United States Senator, today was chosen by President Hoover to be a member of the International Joint Commission, the body which, in conjunction with a similar Canadian Commission, deal with boundary questions between the two countries. The post pays $7,500 a year. The tenure is supposed to be for life.

Soil improvement comprises a major part of county agent work in every community in Knox county. It consists in the use of limestone, phosphate, legumes and manure. Several carloads of lime have been distributed in the county this spring.

MOVIES HOLLYWOOD REVUE

Famous Song Writers Make Big Extravaganza Melody Mine

Songs even more popular, if this is possible, than those which became instantaneous hits with the production of "The Broadway Melody" are introduced in abundance and, for the first time with "The Hollywood Revue," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's great musical motion picture, coming Monday and Tuesday to the Capitol Theatre.

The country will presently be "Singing in the Rain" if the members of a sound stage production staff and crew are judges, of the features of the huge extravaganza.

"Singing in the Rain" is one of the many musical comedies in "The Hollywood Revue." Stage carpenters, electricians, property men and laborers were humming the new tune as they worked after "listening in" on but two rehearsals of the number, which is one of the features of the huge extravaganza.

"Your Mother and Mine" is another exceptionally beautiful melody from the pens of Gus Edwards and Joe Goodwin.

"I Gotta Fella for You" by Joe Trant and Louis Alter is crooned by Joan Crawford before she does her dance in an act of her own.

"Just You—Just Me" by Joe Trant and Louis Alter is crooned by Joan Crawford before she does her dance in an act of her own.

It is rich in humor, as such a story should be, and it contains a forthright, simple love theme which might be the love story of "Orange Blossom Time" by Gus Edwards and Joe Goodwin is the melody heard in the huge spectacular orange grove number filmed in technicolor, which closes the "Jewel of My Heart" and "Strike Up the Band" are from the prolific pen of Fred Fisher, famous author of "Dardanella" and other hits.

Other songs and musical numbers are "Gotta Get Together" by Jesse Greer and Raymond Klages; "Bones and Tannourine" by Fred Fisher; "I'm the Queen" by Martin Brookes and Andy Rice; "Charley, Ike, and Gus" and "Marie, Polly and Bea" by Gus Edwards and Joe Goodwin, who also wrote "Lon Chaney's Goin' to Get You" and "Nobody But You" and "Minstrel Days."

"Black and White" and "A Low Down Bunch" are new songs by Jesse Greer and Raymond Klages.

MURRAY TO PLAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

First Game Is Scheduled With Carbondale, Ill., on September 26.

Playing the first night game in the history of the Kentucky Institute, the Thoroughbreds of the Murray State Teachers College will open their 1930 football season against the strong Carbondale team at Carbondale, Ill., September 26.

The Murray team is scheduled to play 11 games this season, five of which will be played on the Murray gridiron and five on foreign fields. The place of the Lambuth-Murray game has not been determined.

During the grid season for Murray, which will open September 26 and will close November 14, the Thoroughbreds are to play two games at night. The first will be with Carbondale and the second with the University of Tennessee at Martin, October 17.

Harlan Brodie, star halfback from Arkansas, will pilot the Murray aggregation through the coming season. He was elected captain of the class of the 1929 season.

The complete schedule follows:

Sept. 16, Carbondale at Carbondale (night)
Oct. 4, Delta Teachers at Murray
Oct. 10, Eastern at Richmond
Oct. 17, University of Tennessee at Martin (night)
Oct. 25, Bethel, Tennessee, at Murray
Nov. 1, Middle Tennessee

RIVETS MAKE YOUR HOT WATER BOILER PRESSURE-TIGHT...

The Torrid Zone STEEL FURNACE is gun-tight and dust-tight because it is riveted

Hours' heated by a steel Torrid Zone are conspicuously clean and bright. From its sealed doors no smoke or fumes can ever escape to play havoc with your furnishings, your temper or your health.

For just as your hot water boiler is made pressure-tight by hot-riveting and cold-calking... so the steel Torrid Zone is made gas, smoke and dust-tight.

Rivets glue steel to steel in a Lennox Torrid Zone to keep dust and coal gas in their place. Offensive odors around the house following a trip to the furnace room or when you've hanked the fire, become a thing of the past. You'd be surprised to find how much cleaner and more healthful your home can be.

The Torrid Zone Furnace is an economical furnace. It produces from 10% to 20% more heat from the fuel used, hence uses less fuel than other furnaces. Many home owners report a yearly fuel saving of from $30 to $50.

Burns soft coal, coke, hard coal, oil, lignite or gas more efficiently than any other furnace.

Entire Faculty Of Lynn Grove School Re-elected for 1930

The entire Lynn Grove faculty composed of nine members were re-elected at a recent meeting of the local board for the coming school year, according to Dr. C. H. Jones, chairman.

Four of the employed teachers are degree people, one lacks only twenty hours, another has completed three years of college work, and the other three are in their junior year.

T. C. Arnold, principal and vocational agriculture teacher of the school is a member of the first senior class of Lynn Grove. He received his bachelor's degree from Western State Teachers College at Bowling Green in 1929. His first advanced work was done at Murray. Mr. Arnold has served as principal of two of the other county high schools, Kirksey and New Concord. This year is his first year at Lynn Grove. He was preceded by W. A. Warren, now at Lone Oak.

Knives Used in Custer Fight Is Now in Murray Museum

By R. N. Newton

Fifty-four years ago warwhoops of the Redmen's greatest triumph over the Palefaces resounded on the ridges of the Little Horn River. Across these slopes 2500 braves charged down upon General Custer and his outnumbered command and succeeded in killing the 225 bluecoats of the Seventh Cavalry.

One of the knives used in this massacre has found its way into the museum of Murray State Teachers College.

This instrument was first presented to J. Hodine Henalee of Newburg, Ky., by an Indian Chief and has been loaned to the college museum along with several other things collected by Mr. Henalee.

The knife is made of very heavy steel. The length of the weapon is 12 inches over all, with a 11 inch blade. The blade is of the single edge type with double bevel and has a rounding point. The knife is in almost perfect condition. Even the wood handles do not show signs of decay.

Some other things in the college museum of interest are: A rifle made in 1877 and used in Mexico; two swords used in Civil War; puzzle leading pistol found in old Callowaytown, first settlement of Calloway county; revolver found at Ft. Henry (it still has two bullets in the cylinder); Indian skull found in drift after battle of Shiloh.

The history and social science teacher, Miss Modest Clark, an alumna of L. G. H. S. She was graduated from Murray State Teachers College in the class of '27 and became a member of the Lynn Grove faculty the following school year.

WE HAIL the GRADUATE

Gifts for GRADUATES

Graduates make citizens who make a better community. Their training in school, the requirements they have had to meet gives them something that is not measured entirely by money-making capacity. We are pleased to join in extending hearty congratulations and best wishes to each member of the eight high school classes in Calloway county and to the graduates at the college.

APPROPRIATE CLOTHING FOR THE COMMENCEMENT EVENTS

For both the young ladies and the young gentlemen who receive their diplomas, and juniors, sophomores and freshmen who want to appear their best at the various programs, we have large selections in frocks and accessories for the young women and suits and furnishings for the young men.

GIFTS FOR THE GRADUATES

Reward them with gifts at commencement time. And it is fitting that these gifts be of high order although not necessarily of great expense. SUCH ARE THE GIFTS TO BE FOUND HERE.

WE SUGGEST:

Graduation is an end and a beginning—the culmination of years of studious effort, and the plunging into new work. It is a serious, yet glad, occasion and deserves recognition in a more concrete form than mere phrases of congratulation.

The firms whose ads appear on this page have accordingly prepared a series of special offers for Graduation, presenting an imposing array of graduation gifts, invitingly priced, yet decidedly appropriate. Use these ads as your buying guide.

Faxon High School

Faxon community has completed the best and most successful commencement week in its history. Large and attentive crowds attended, and splendid programs were presented each day.

The graduating class, the largest of the six sent out by the school, consists of the following members: Lotene Colson, Lovella Colson, Mary Folwell, Eljio McDaniel, Keith Morris, Frances Ross, Fred Thompson, Otis Walker and Edna Hale, who finished at the end of the first semester and matriculated in Murray State Teachers College in February, 1930.

The festivities of the week began Saturday evening, May 3, when the Juniors, Elbert Colson, James Kheublen Donelson, Burns Grier, Reva Dell Hall, Raymond McDonald, Lurline Morris, and Tom Wells, directed by Miss Martha Hule, sponsor, and assisted by the home economics class, gave a delightful banquet to the seniors, the faculty, and two other guests, Dr. L. D. Hale, of the County Board of Education, and Mrs. Barker, a former teacher and wife of Principal O. W. Barker.

The banquet hall was beautifully decorated in rose and green, senior class colors, with a profusion of flowers and ferns. The table was attractively arranged with a centerpiece of a huge bouquet of pink carnations, the class flower, with green candlesticks and pink candles at either end. Place cards were attached to program and menu cards in green and rose covers. Covers were laid for twenty-two, and a delicious four-course dinner was served.

Miss Martha Hule acted as hostess and Mr. O. W. Barker as toastmaster. Each senior and guest responded. A feature of the evening's program was the presentation of appropriate and amusing gifts to each guest by the giftman, Miss Reva Dell Hall.

On Sunday afternoon, May 4, the Reverend R. F. Gregory, of Murray, preached to a large and attentive congregation gathered in Faxon high school auditorium, the baccalaureate sermon. Mr. Gregory chose for his text 2 Samuel 18:29 and 32: "Is the young man . . . safe?" The speaker pointed out that for the youth of today to be a safe and saved individual, he must have his spirit itself developed along with the physical and mental.

On Monday after school the faculty gave the student body a delightful informal Gypsy tea. The entire school hiked to a nearby rocky glen, and after many active games, built camp fires and feasted to their heart's content.

Tuesday evening, Miss Audie Louise Folwell presented the high school play, "The Beantown Choir," a rollicking three-act musical comedy, pronounced by the audience, one of the best ever given at Faxon. Reports came in that the seniors would have to "step on it" to beat the rest of the high school.

Evidently, on Thursday evening the seniors and Mr. O. W. Barker, sponsor, did just that thing in "The Path Across the Hill." No better play has been produced at Faxon than this senior production. A very large and appreciative audience was present.

A fitting close came to so successful a series of exercises on Friday evening when Mr. Walter J. Compton, principal of the M. S. T. C. Training school, and a native of Faxon community, delivered the commencement address. Mr. Compton's subject was "The Triumph of the Common Virtues."

Mr. Compton showed, by many great men of the past, how success is attained by the intensive cultivation of the common virtues, which we all may possess, such as determination, earnestness, veracity, thrift.

The printed program follows: Graduating Exercises of Faxon High School. Friday Evening, 8 o'clock. Processional. Piano solo—Miss Martha Hule. Invocation. Chorus. Address—W. J. Compton. Duets. Presentation of diplomas—O. W. Barker. Benediction.

We are saddened by the parting of graduation time, but by none more than by Mr. and Mrs. Barker leaving us. They have won the high regard of all. He has been our principal for three successful years. He is hard working, earnest, and self-sacrificing, and the worthy helpmate it may be said truly that every student feels Mr. Barker to be his real friend, and gives to this friend unstinted love and admiration. The students are all well and happy and a congenial field of service in their new home.

We are sorry to lose Miss Hule too. Although she has been with us a short time, we have learned to regard her highly. She was ever conscientious about her class work, was ready to help us toward the finer things of life, and was an invaluable aid in the social side of school life and extra-curricular activities. We wish her well wherever she may go.

Dr. Alfred Outland, county health physician, presented 18 health blue ribbons to the students of Faxon high school before the graduating exercises, Friday evening. Most of the students came from the high school. We do not have a list of the names of the students awarded these honors.

The county board of education recently consolidated Liberty, a one-room school, with Faxon. By using a larger truck this school and Sage Hill can both be transported by one driver. After trial of Faxon one year, we are sure Liberty will be an enthusiastic consolidation as Sage Hill folks are now.

It is known that the patrons of two or three other neighboring one-room schools are talking consolidation. As soon as we can get good roads, allow us to predict, Faxon will no longer remain the smallest high school in the county, but will become one of the largest.

Allow us, at the end of a successful school year, toward the success of which they have materially contributed, to thank Mr. Joe T. Lovett and his staff of the Ledger & Times for their every courtesy.

The school has kept a notebook of all its activities. It is a high school, and we find there are 266 column inches or 12 galleries of 22 inches each thereby averaging nearly one-half galley each week of school. If Mr. Lovett extends the same kind invitation, we will try next fall to make better and more regular writeups.

Calloway Co. Teachers!

All teachers who expect to teach in Calloway County Schools next fall are herein notified to file applications with me at once. It is necessary for you to apply to the County Board of Education, even though the trustee has given you the place. The County Board of Education did not employ many teachers last meeting due to the fact no applications had been filed.

All teachers who have to take an examination in order to secure a certificate, will please meet at the College building, the 4th Thursday and Friday of this month, May 22 and 23. This is the only examination to be given until after the opening of rural schools.

R. E. Broach, Supt.
